WHO WE ARE

WHO WE ARE

Capgemini is a multicultural company of 290,000 people in nearly 50 countries, who work with world-renowned clients to find solutions to their most demanding challenges.

As a global leader in consulting, digital transformation, technology and engineering services – with unrivaled sectorial expertise – we enable our clients to design and build tomorrow's businesses, make the most of the opportunities offered by technology and boost their competitiveness and agility.

OUR PURPOSE

“Unleashing human energy through technology for an inclusive and sustainable future”

For the Capgemini Group, technology promises progress.

“Capgemini has a key role to play in ensuring that the future lives up to all its promises. We believe that all technologies can enable progress for everyone if, first and foremost, they are designed by and for humans. As a responsible company, the Group is realistic when it comes to the promises as well as the risks of technological innovation: our role is to make it useful, accessible and ethical. This purpose must act as a compass for each and every employee.”

Paul Hermelin, Chairman of the Board, and
Aiman Ezzat, Chief Executive Officer of Capgemini

Mercedes-Benz Software development in the fast lane

Capgemini transforms a large-scale project into an agile delivery model that enables the flexible implementation of new requirements.

Mercedes-Benz AG is one of the biggest producers of premium cars and the world's biggest manufacturer of commercial vehicles. For the development and documentation of electronic vehicle components, Mercedes-Benz AG uses the Electric/Electronic Product Data Management (EPDM) system developed by Capgemini. However, the pace of vehicle development has increased substantially in recent years, resulting in the need for shorter software release cycles. As a result, Mercedes-Benz AG and Capgemini jointly decided to transform the software delivery model from waterfall to large-scale distributed agile delivery.

Digitalizing the nuclear industry with EDF

A global leader in low-carbon energies, EDF carried out a vast digital transformation of its nuclear business to boost its competitiveness and maintain its spot among the world's top names in the energy industry.

Launched in partnership with Capgemini in autumn 2017, the SWITCH program was designed to standardize, harmonize, and modernize processes and engineering methods.

Today, we all share high hopes for our digital transformation to boost performance across our entire nuclear engineering business.”

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of EDF Group

Sailing uncharted waters with Virgin Voyages

Virgin Voyages is a new player in the cruise line industry, with its maiden voyage scheduled for 2020. The company's mission is to build the world's most irresistible travel brand. The result: an "Adult-by-Design" model for sailors who want a more elevated and sophisticated holiday experience. Virgin Voyages is partnering with Capgemini to use technology to serve its customers better.

From learning about our brand to booking a transformation voyage, to picking my favorite dining spot on our Scarlet Lady, digital technology is a key underpinning for our experience. Capgemini has been a key partner in helping us plan, organize, and build this incredible technology ecosystem.

Andy Schwalb,

Chief Technology Officer of Virgin Voyages

Transforming customer service with DLG

Direct Line Group (DLG) is one of the largest insurance groups in the UK, with over 11,000 employees managing 15 million in-force policies. DLG was separated from the Royal Bank of Scotland Group in 2012 and, subsequently independently floated on the London Stock Market. After going public, DLG worked with Capgemini to reduce its service desk costs and improve both its flexibility and responsiveness. Already providing hosting services to DLG, Capgemini is tackling the new contract through an Agile methodology and by leveraging its strong digital and data capabilities.

Capgemini has the capability to challenge our thinking and help provoke further innovation.

Steve Maddock,

Chief Operating Officer of DLG

Dell EMC Analytics at the service of testing

Dell Technologies was looking for the next big thing in its testing and test data transformation journey, using analytics to help more than 350 test professionals better manage test case planning and reduce the test configuration process.

The application of our Cognitive QA solution has helped Dell EMC see what they could not see before and to prioritize efforts based on deeper analytics and understanding of their test environment.

Enexis Efficiency and rapidity through cloud transformation

Enexis was looking for scalable and agile IT-capacity in a public and cloud-native environment.

The results:

- Implementation and integration of applications within the IT operation simplified with Continuous Integration and Continuous Deployment (CI/CD)
- Application delivery down from 6-12 weeks to just 2 days
- Fully automated processes enabling systems to be switched off when not in use making cost savings of up to 25%.

Our IT-landscape will be more flexible with the application transformation to a public cloud environment. Moreover, we ensure software liability and security. Our partners are well-experienced in these complex projects, so we are looking forward to a successful and innovative change over the coming years.

Jeroen Sanders,
Managing Director ICT of Enexis Group
